Streetsboro, OH (PRWEB) April 29, 2015 -- Soft-Lite Windows has added a new sliding patio door to its hurricane-rated product offering. The new 6400 Series door provides a picture window view -- yet is still specifically designed to give homeowners excellent energy efficiency and unparalleled storm protection. These doors are rigorously tested and impact rated, so they'll provide outstanding performance -- even in the toughest conditions. This makes them ideal for locations such as coastal areas that require doors that keep out wind and water. 6400 patio doors are also designed to provide additional benefits such as lower home energy costs, improved comfort and UV protection.

The new 6400 Series sliding patio door completes Soft-Lite's impact product line. It joins the company's Armor Max Plus and Armor Impact Plus hurricane-rated windows, which offer varying levels of hurricane protection. Soft-Lite's AMP and AIP windows are available in double-hung, sliding and picture window styles.

“We are extremely pleased to add the 6400 Series door to our family of impact-rated products,” said Tyson Schwartz, Soft-Lite Vice President of Sales & Marketing. “We have many dealers who sell in coastal areas, and we want to build windows and doors that meet the building codes for these areas -- and products that help effectively protect people during violent weather.”
